EDUCATION

Ph.D., University of California, Berkeley, Library and Information Studies
Dissertation Title: Word Becomes Image; Herbert Bayer, Pioneer of a New Vision in Book Design, 1989.
M.L.S., University of California, Berkeley, 1979.
B.A., University of California, San Diego, German literature major, philosophy minor, 1978. Summa cum laude.

EXPERIENCE

1999- Associate Professor, Florida State University, School of Information Studies.
1998- 2004 Associate Dean, Florida State University, School of Information Studies.
1996-1999 Assistant Professor, Florida State University, School of Information
Studies.
1989-1996 Assistant Professor, Rutgers University, School of Communication, Information and Library Studies.
Summer 1991 Visiting Professor, San Jose State University, Division of Library
And Information Studies. Taught two courses.
Summer 1991 Research Associate, University of California, Berkeley, School of Library and Information Studies. Designed and executed a multimedia tool for music reference with Dr. Mary Kay Duggan.
Summer 1989 Instructor, University of California, Berkeley, University Extension.
Taught a continuing education course: "History of Children's Books."
1988-1989 Cataloging Assistant, University of California, Berkeley, The Bancroft Library. Special cataloging projects including full original cataloging of a collection of 200+ broadsides from the French Revolution and reclassification of materials in the fine printing collection.
1987-1989 Instructor and Research Assistant, University of California, Berkeley, School of Library and Information Studies. Taught one undergraduate course in library and information studies each semester: "Introduction to Bibliography." Assisted in research projects in business and professional office systems.
1987 Temporary Reference Librarian, Rider College (Lawrenceville, NJ), Franklin Moore Library. Provided evening and weekend reference services.
1986-1987 Rare Books Cataloger, Joseph J. Felcone Books (Princeton, NJ).
Compiled dealer's reference catalogs primarily in the area of New

- Jerseyana.
- 1984-1986 Senior Children's Librarian, Mercer County Library, Headquarters Branch (Lawrenceville, NJ). Collection development and maintenance, programming, children and adult reference services. Coordinated children's services activities for the Mercer County Library system 1985-1986.
- 1983-1984 Research Assistant and Teaching Assistant, University of California, Berkeley, School of Library and Information Studies. Developed and implemented training program for faculty in CMS/OS computing services and use. Served as faculty liaison to the computing center. Wrote technical support documentation. Assisted in teaching of "History of the Book" (1983), including grading, holding office hours, and conducting several lectures.
- 1981-1983 Librarian, University of California, Berkeley, Center for the Study, Education and Advancement of Women. Head librarian of reference and referral library. Liaison with university library system in the area of women's studies.
- 1979-1981 Library Assistant, University of California, Berkeley, Institute for Industrial Relations. Reference, technical services, and supervision of student employees. Served as interim librarian for six months.
- 1978-1979 Cataloging Assistant, University of California, Berkeley, The Bancroft Library. Assisted in re-cataloging of several special collections and general support for the professional catalogers, including typing, filing, and bibliographic research.

GRANTS AWARDED

Principal Investigator. When Small Worlds Don't Overlap, Or Why Aren't Latinas Participating in the U.S. Information Technology Workforce?, COFRS Grant (FSU) $13,000, from May 2007 to March 2008.

Principal Investigator. Extending the Web of Our Future. U.S. Institute of Museum & Library Services Librarianship in the 21st Century Grant, 2003-2007. $453,000. Extension of Project Athena to include University of North Carolina, Chapel-Hill and to develop a decision-model application. Co-P.I.s: Jane B. Robbins, Laurie J. Bonnici (Georgia Southern), and Judith Mulholland.

- Principal Investigator. Project Athena: Spinning the Web of Our Future. U.S. Institute of Museum & Library Services National Leadership Grant, 2002-2006. $486,000. Education & Training partnership grant with University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign GSLIS and University of Washington I School. Co-P.I.s: Jane B. Robbins, Laurie J. Bonnici (TWU) and Judith Mulholland (Dalhousie).
- Principal Investigator. Interactivity in Web-based Learning, Planning Grant (FSU) $8,000, from May 2000 to April 2001
- Co-Principal Investigator with Pamela P. Barron and Eliza T. Dresang. Information Professionals Engage Radical Change: Connecting Youth, Books and the Electronic World. U.S. Dept. of Education Title IIB Grant to develop a summer institute for information professionals in youth services, 1997-1998. $99,000. This demonstration and training project provided continuing education for approximately 25 professional youth services librarians.
- Principal Investigator. Identity Formation through Information Seeking in Hypertextual Environments. Florida State University New Professor Research Grant to develop and pilot research study on distance learning, 1997. $10,000. the studies that have grown out of this research grant have contributed to the evaluation and improvement of the distance learning degree programs at the FSU School of Information Studies.
- Co-Principal Investigator with Nancy Roth. CommuniStation: Interactive Multimedia Academic Tutorial. Rutgers University Dialogues Grant for Undergraduate Curriculum Development to develop three modules of a web-based tutorial in social science research methods, 1996. $5000. This curriculum development grant was used to further curriculum development funded in 1994 & 1995.
- Co-Principal Investigator with Nancy Roth. CommuniStation: Multimedia Academic Tutorial. Rutgers University Dialogues Grant for Undergraduate Curriculum Development to develop three modules of a web-based tutorial in social science research methods, 1995. $9500. This curriculum development grant funded the development of a prototype of the web-based learning system currently used at the FSU School of Information Studies and furthered the work begun with the 1994 grant below.
- Co-Principal Investigator with Nancy Roth. CommuniStation: Multimedia Support for Large-Class Learning. Rutgers University Teaching Excellence Center, Teaching Innovation Grant to plan and begin development of a web-based tutorial in social science research methods, 1993-1994. $3300. This teaching innovation grant funded the initial development of a prototype of the web-based learning system currently used at the FSU School of Information Studies.
- Principal Investigator. Image-Based Cataloging for Graphic and Typographic Material. Rutgers Research Council Grant to do research on image-based cataloging of material, 1990. $1200.

- Wiki as a Technology of Convergence: Developing a Consensus-Based Definition of Information Technology*, Association of Internet Researchers, Internet Research 7.0, Brisbane, Australia, Sept. 27-30, 2006. This paper was presented as part of a refereed panel entitled Defining Information Technology to Meet the Needs of a Global Workforce.
- Designing a Global Classification System for the Information Technology Workforce (ITWF): Examining Cultural and Societal Bias*, M. MSubramaniam & K. Burnett, International Conference on Technology, Knowledge and Society, First annual conference, Berkeley, CA. Feb. 18-20, 2005.
- Research in Interaction in Web-Based Distance Learning*, Association of Internet Researchers, Internet Research 2.0, Minneapolis, Oct. 10-14, 2001. Refereed contributed paper presented as part of a panel on education at the second meeting of this international conference.
- Interaction and Student Retention, Success and Satisfaction in Web-Based Learning*, IFLA Education and Training Workshop, Simmons College, Boston, MA, August 23, 2001. Refereed contributed paper on research in progress.
- Interactivity in Web-Based Learning*, International Conference on Technology and Education, Tallahassee, FL., May 2-5, 2001. This refereed paper reported on research in progress on interaction in online learning.
- The Role of Interaction in Web-Based Distance Learning*. Association of Internet Researchers, 1st Annual Conference, Lawrence, KS., Sept. 14-17, 2000. Refereed contributed paper presented as part of panel on distance learning at the first meeting of this international conference.
- From Victorian Scrapbook to Contemporary Literary Texts: The Aesthetics of Paste-up and Children's Trade Book Production*. Children's Literature Association, Paris, France, July 2-4, 1998. International annual meeting of the world's leading scholars in children's literature. Refereed contributed paper presented as part of the panel Radical Change in Literature for Youth and the Arts, (E.T. Dresang, panel chair).
- Information Interaction Styles and Learning on the Internet*. In-Tele Conference: Uses of the Internet and European Identity Construction, Strassbourg, France, September 24-26, 1998. International conference co-sponsored by the European Commission and five major universities. This conference paper reported on an Information Interaction Styles Model developed with Robert F. Brooks, a doctoral candidate in the College of Communication. The model and the instrument that was developed to measure information interaction styles has been administered to the distance learners at the FSU School of Information Studies and the results have contributed to the design or redesign of several courses.
- Information Interaction Styles Model*. R.F. Brooks and K. Burnett. International Communication Association, Annual Conference, San Francisco, May 27-31. This conference paper reported on an Information Interaction Styles Model developed with Robert F. Brooks, a doctoral candidate in the College of Communication. The model and the instrument that was developed to measure information interaction styles has been administered to the distance learners at the FSU School of Information Studies and the results have contributed to the design or redesign of several courses.
- ALN Research and Assessment: a Case Study*. K. Burnett and R. F. Brooks. Third

- International Conference on Asynchronous Learning Networks. New York, October 3-5, 1997. Paper presented by K. Burnett and Ph.D. student R. F. Brooks. Panel on ALN Implications for Higher Education Change. Refereed contributed paper. This conference paper reported on strategies for assessing the efficacy of distance learning, particularly learning outcomes based measures.
- Toward the Construction of a Feminist Post-Modern Hyperidentity of Cultural Integration.* K. Burnett and E. G. McKinley. International Communication Association Conference, Sydney, Australia, July 1994. Paper presented through the auspices of the Feminist Special Interest Group at the annual meeting of the most prestigious international conference in the field of communication. Refereed contributed paper. This conference paper was an outgrowth of a directed individual study project with E.G. McKinley, who was a doctoral candidate at the time.
- Is Hypertext a Feminist Project?* International Association of Word and Image Studies Congress, Ottawa, Canada, August 15-21, 1993. Third international congress. Paper presented at occasional meeting of highly-respected international interdisciplinary group of scholars. Refereed contributed paper. Abstract appears in proceedings, p. 27.
